Lives Brightened: A long-term care insurance policy may help your members live the life they always planned.

That may include doing all the things that are important to them today, plus all the things they dreamed of doing in retirement.

But what happens when they're unable to care for themselves? Or they're faced with providing care for a spouse or loved one? What does that do to the plans they've made?

Some Facts About Long-Term Care

- Long-term care is a term used to describe the services people need when they no longer are able to care for themselves, whether due to an accident, disability, prolonged illness or the simple process of aging
- Long-term care services aren't just for older people. Accidents and prolonged illnesses requiring long-term care happen to people of all ages

- Long-term care services are provided in a variety of settings, including people's homes, assisted living facilities and nursing homes
- Long-term care services may be expensive. Consider the national average costs:

Home Health Aide	Assisted Living Facility	Nursing Home
$3,465 per month	$3,159 per month	$6,301 per month

Costs may vary by state. Source: Long-Term Care Cost-of-Care Study conducted by [Univita 2010] (Source available on request.) Home health aide based on services received eight hours per day, 20 days per month.

LONG-TERM CARE INSURANCE . . .

Helping association members prepare for the future and brighten their lives.

Long-Term Care Insurance Can Help

A long-term care insurance policy provides funds to help pay for the care people need in the setting that's right for them.

And that may help them:

- Remain in the comfort of their homes
- Avoid relying on family members to provide care
- Protect their retirement savings

How Long-Term Care Insurance Works

The purpose of long-term care insurance is to help people protect themselves against the risk of paying the high cost of long-term care services.

Once the insured is eligible to receive benefits, a long-term care insurance policy will pay for covered long-term care services, up to the maximum monthly benefit of the policy.

Why Your Members Should Consider It Now

No one is ever too young to need long-term care insurance. Here are some good reasons your members should consider purchasing a policy now:

- The ability to purchase a long-term care policy is based on good health, so a future change in health status may make them ineligible

- The cost of a long-term care policy is based on the age at the time of purchase, so every year your members wait, the cost may go up
- Members and their eligible family members can purchase this policy at a premium which is lower than that available to the general public.

We're Here to Help

The same long-term care insurance policy isn't right for everyone. Mutual of Omaha Insurance Company and United of Omaha Life Insurance Company offer your members a variety of policy options that include:

- Pre-packaged policy options that contain the long-term care benefits people purchase most often
- Customizable policy options that allow people to select the long-term care benefits that best meet their needs

Your insurance agent will help your members evaluate their need for long-term care insurance, understand their options and select a policy that's right for them.
